Course Requirements

There are a variety of skills that will help a student be successful in a legal career, including the following:
- The ability to write clearly and concisely,
- The ability to critically analyze a situation and propose a workable solution,
- The ability to clearly articulate a position on an issue and engage in meaningful debate,
- The ability to read, comprehend and analyze large amounts of printed material, and
- The ability to work well with others.

Students are recommended to choose a major and elective classes that provide training in these skills areas.

The following courses are recommended:
- BUAD 325 Business Law I (3)
- BUAD 326 Business Law II (3)
- BUAD 370 Healthcare Law (3)
- COMM 426 Argumentation (3)
- PHIL 101 Introduction to Philosophy (4)
- PLSC 274 Introduction to Political Thought (3)
- Ethics Course (Choose One): RELB 315 Biblical Ethics (3)
- REI 216 Introduction to Christian Ethics (3)
- Writing-Intensive Course (Choose One): HIST 180 History Methods I (1+1+1)
- WRIT 310 Advanced Expository Writing (4)
- Also Recommended: BUAD 223 Personal Law (2)
- COMM 427 Persuasive Communication (3)
- ECON 261 Macroeconomics (4)
- ECON 265 Microeconomics (4)
- PLSC 335 History of Political Thought II (3)
- PSYC 121 General Psychology (4)
- SOCI 121 Introduction to Sociology (4)

Pre-Law Advisors

Abram Fisher (Business Administration)
afisher@puc.edu, 707-965-6521

Michelle Rai (Communication)
mrai@puc.edu, 707-965-7175

Maria Rankin-Brown (English)
mrankin@puc.edu, 707-965-6613

Howard Munson (History & Political Studies)
hmunson@puc.edu, 707-965-6404

General Entrance Information

The pre-law student should meet regularly with his or her pre-law advisor, become acquainted with admission requirements of the law school of his or her choice, maintain a high GPA, pursue volunteer opportunities, and prepare for the LSAT (Law Schools Admission Test), for which PUC facilitates a Sunday test date.

Law schools process more applications than there are seats available, and applicants are evaluated on both GPA and LSAT performance.

There is no prescribed course of study for the pre-law student. In its official “Statement on Prelaw Preparation”, the Pre-Law Committee of the ABA Section of Legal Education and Admissions to the Bar states the following:

The ABA does not recommend any undergraduate majors or group of courses to prepare for a legal education. Students are admitted to law school from almost every academic discipline. You may choose to major in subjects that are considered to be traditional preparation for law school, such as history, English, legal studies, philosophy, political science, economics, or business, or you may focus your undergraduate studies in areas as diverse as art, music, science, mathematics, engineering, nursing, or education. Whatever major you select, you are encouraged to pursue an area of study that interests and challenges you, while taking advantage of opportunities to develop your research and writing skills. Taking a broad range of difficult courses from demanding instructors is excellent preparation for legal education. A sound legal education will build upon and further refine the skills, values, and knowledge that you already possess. The student who comes to law school lacking a broad range of basic skills and knowledge will face a difficult challenge.

Additionally, the committee lists several core skills and values that a student should “acquire prior to law school and that will provide a sound foundation for a legal education”:
- Analytic and problem-solving skills
- Critical reading abilities
- Writing skills
- Oral communication and listening abilities
- General research skills
- Task organization and management skills
- The values of serving faithfully the interests of others while also promoting justice.

To obtain more information and to read the above statements in their entirety, please visit http://www.lsac.org/jd/thinking-about-law-school/prelaw-preparation

For More Information

Law Schools Admission Council: www.lsac.org
American Bar Association: www.americanbar.org
Pacific Union College: www.puc.edu