

Today's weather conditions are resulting in canceled flights or dangerous road conditions for PUC students traveling back to campus. Your safety is of utmost importance, so please carefully assess your travel situation.

If your commute is too risky, please contact your individual professors instead of driving to campus today. Classes will be in session on Monday, Jan. 9, but professors will work with you if your return is delayed due to weather.

For drivers, please use EXTREME caution driving back to Angwin.

The Napa River is cresting. Once you reach Deer Park, opt for the hospital road up the hill. Water is gathering in areas of Howell Mtn. Rd. that might be challenging for smaller vehicles.

We recommend you sign up for area alerts, standing water, road hazards, and closed roads via Nixle: Text area codes: 94508-Angwin's area code; 94599-Napa; 94581-Yountville or other related zip codes to 888-777. For more information, see this link:<http://www.nixle.com/>

Be safe everyone! We want you to arrive safe and sound even if it necessitates a delay.
