Student Learning Outcomes

- Students can:
- Critically analyze the major themes and issues in the Bible in light of its cultural, literary, and historical contexts.
  - Explain the basic Christian doctrines and distinctive Seventh-day Adventist beliefs in light of biblical and historical interpretation.
  - Apply spiritual, ethical, and philosophical teachings in Scripture and Christian tradition to a contemporary world.

Occupational Information

What can I do with this major?
 This major is designed primarily for those who wish to obtain a broad background in the study of religion but who are planning careers in other professions, such as medical field, law, or student personnel services. In addition to providing a broad-based undergraduate education, the religion major is intended to assist in the preparation of lay persons who can participate more fully in the life of the church.

Additional Education Required?
 It is strongly recommended that those electing to graduate with this major combine it with a professional program (such as education, counseling, social services, etc.). Prospective teachers must obtain teaching credentials.

Job Outlook
 There are limited opportunities as a religion major. It is likely that job opportunities will be enhanced by combining this major with a professional program as recommended above. There are a number of openings in teaching on the secondary level if this major is combined with another field. There is also an occasional opening for a Bible worker.

General Education Requirements

To view general education requirements for this major, please refer to page A-02, Summary of General Education Requirements: B.A. Degree.

How to Construct Your Own Program
