AT PACIFIC UNION COLLEGE

PUC ALUMS ACCEPT GOD'S CALL

TO BECOME MISSIONARIES In the spring of 2006, Ted and Nikki Mamoulelis met at Pacific Union College. After graduating in 2009, Nikki married Ted, and later, they had two daughters, Sophia, 12, and Anastasia, 5. Living in Meridian, CA, Nikki believed their family's mission field was at home, wherever they were. That changed in May 2023 when Nikki and Ted felt God's call to be missionaries.

PUC'S FIRST GLOBAL HEALTH STUDENT GRADUATES AND LEAVES IMPACTFUL MARK

The global health department at Pacific Union College is proud to share that senior Areli Castro will be their program's first graduate. From Napa, CA, Castro decided to attend PUC after seeing the value of its close-knit, supportive community. With a love for traveling and helping others, she enrolled in global health as the perfect opportunity to combine both passions in a meaningful way.

21ST ANNUAL DIOGENES FILM FESTIVAL PRAISES STUDENTS & HONORS TIM DE LA TORRE

On Thursday, May 29, the Visual Arts Department at Pacific Union College hosted its 21st annual Diogenes Film Festival at the Cameo Cinema in St. Helena. With 130 attendees, the festival showcased 20 films from the school year and featured some movies from the previous year.

30 YEARS AT PUC: A REFLECTION WITH DEAN MILBERT MARIANO

This year marked 30 years of service at PUC for Milbert Mariano, dean of the School of Arts, Humanities, and Professions. Before becoming dean, he spent nearly 25 years as a professor of graphic design in the Visual Arts Department, serving as department chair for 12 of those years. He then advanced to become the college's vice president for academic administration and academic dean.

PUC'S FLIGHT CENTER & ANGWIN DART AIR EXPO: SHARING THE JOY OF AVIATION

On Sunday, May 4, the Pacific Union College Flight Center and Angwin Disaster Airlift Response Team (DART) welcomed 600 visitors to their Air Expo at the Angwin Virgil O. Parrett Field. In collaboration, they showcased the world of aviation with the help of local vendors, pilots, and humanitarian aviation organizations.

PUC'S STEM SCHOLARS PROGRAM: A COMMUNITY BEYOND CAMPUS

Last year, Pacific Union College launched a $5,000 STEM Scholarship to support students in the School of Sciences. This renewable scholarship is available and awarded to select incoming students who commit to science majors and maintain a 3.0 GPA or higher. This year, seven outstanding students received the scholarship, demonstrating collaboration, teamwork, and a close-knit support system.

PUC WELCOMES TONY NAKASHIMA AS NEW ATHLETIC DIRECTOR

Pacific Union College is happy to appoint Tony Nakashima as the new Athletic Director. Nakashima graduated from PUC with a Bachelor of Business Administration degree in Marketing in 2010. Coming back to PUC was a full circle moment for Nakashima, as he truly enjoyed his student experience and is devoted to influencing students' lives in the same way.

PUC'S AVIATION DEPARTMENT RECEIVES $12K GRANT FOR HIGH TECH TRAINING SIMULATOR

Pacific Union College is delighted to share that the aviation department received a $12,000 grant from the VersaCare Foundation to purchase the full-motion platform and accessories for a high-fidelity, virtual reality flight training device prototype.

PUC WORSHIPS WITH ALUMNA PASTOR SAMANTHA ANGELES

Pacific Union College was happy to welcome back alumna Pastor Samantha Angeles to speak for the spring Week of Worship. From April 14-18, she spoke around the school year's theme of "Passion," discussing her experience in ministry at the age of eight and feeling that spark that would later lead her to PUC.

TWO STUDENTS RECEIVE ANDY BISHOP FOUNDATION SCHOLARSHIP

On the first day of Homecoming, Pacific Union College Professor Dr. Tammy McGuire awarded two communication majors, Jazlynn Hardy and Anna Ramos, with scholarship awards from the Andy Bishop Foundation, created in honor of communication alumni Andy Bishop, '15, who tragically passed away in 2021. His parents, Doug and Lori, and other family members and friends have generously contributed to the foundation, which grows yearly.

PUC PARTNERS WITH NAPA FIREWISE TO IMPLEMENT FIRE MITIGATION IN ANGWIN

On the brisk morning of Thursday, May 15, Pacific Union College staff and community members collaborated with Napa FireWise, CAL FIRE, and the Prescribed Burn Associations of Napa, Yolo, and Solano counties in conducting a prescribed burn in the beloved PUC forest. A year in the making and waiting, the weather was conducive to conducting this planned forest fire in contribution to a CAL FIRE Forest Health Project, promoting fire resilience and a more balanced forest ecosystem.
